I've asked [redacted] to mail you my written statement. Please transcribe it when you get it. I mentioned this to Cory - I forgot to tell the investigators something he said, so I left it out of the statement. Cory said to go ahead and include it. The part where he says "You're dead, Bitch" - he also said "This shit is going down NOW" - I did not please include that you transcribe it.

So after speaking with you, [redacted] Mom + Dad I am clearly in the minority w/ my thoughts on making counter claims on the civil suit. I wanted you to know that I appreciated your input and I can certainly see your point. I called [redacted] and said I was not going to make any claims against the family. She was relieved that I was able to let go of the hurt feelings I've been harboring. I called Mom + Dad and let them know too. Cory is looking at this and his initial reaction was that it's a bogus suit. Mom has links to them if you're interested. Those two guys that were in the SUV are making all kinds of false claims. In my mind, consistent with covering up what they did. My written statement is very accurate - I tried not to leave out any details. Please send Mom + Becky a copy when you have it.

Thanks!

-Mike
