Hello again!

Just got off the phone with you. From, as you gave me the news of the new judge. If things progress as they have, we will meet with the judge on the 15th of July, then not again until the middle of August. I can only hope that I'm wrong. I think it is very important that Cory lets the judge know on the 15th all involved, so that we can get on the calendar. I don't know if we can, but at the rate we're going and the number of outstanding hearings, I won't get to trial until 2015? As we've discussed, the problem is NOT Cory, but the court system as it exists in our country. Somehow, we need to stop playing by their rules and stack the deck in my favor for a change. Hopefully this strategizing is for naught, as the new judge will be reasonable. Let's hope so!

All my love to you both. Thank for being there for me!

Love,

Mike
