Hi Grandma!

I've been thinking about you too! I missed getting a letter from you for a while, but knew you were busy. Thanks for keeping me in your thoughts!

I went to a pre-trial hearing last week. A big waste of time. The state was supposed to have delivered all of their so-called evidence against me by Jan 30. They didn't get it to my attorney until Feb 11, and then all of the documents were in a proprietary format that the attorney couldn't read! The good news is that someone made a 911 call that will hopefully exonerate me. I'm hoping that my attorney is able to get sworn statements or something from those 3 boys and catch them in their lies before they find out the contents of that 911 call and start making up more stories! I am amazed at what is going on - with the way the media has been covering this case. There have been several other shootings here in Jacksonville, yet they are all either black on black or black on white - and none of them have garnered any attention from the media. I guess it's news when someone dares to not be a victim, but they are twisting it around and saying I was the 'bad guy'. Thanks for listening and letting me vent my frustrations a bit. I don't have a date yet for the bond hearings, but I've told sometime in March now. I hope to be home soon. Please say a prayer for me!

Love You! - Mike
